In 1987 the Minden Legion received its Charter, and last Wednesday night Branch 636 became complete when the Ladies Auxiliary received their Charter. In a colourful ceremony at the Legion, 26 Charter Members were sworn in. Shown here, Shirley Kirk, left, is flanked by Jean Marsh of the Haliburton Colour Party as she is sworn in as the President of the Minden Ladies Auxiliary. Health Care study is ready to roll Fears that Minden may soon lose its hospital were allayed last Thursday when assurances were given by members of the St. Joseph's Hospital Board that no such plans are in the works.

More than 100 area residents, concerned that the hospital service they depend on will be moved to Haliburton Village, crowded the Minden Council Chambers Thursday night. They were there to find out what progress is being made toward improved health care service and to show their determination to maintaining the service already provided.

Mabel Brannigan opened the meeting by reading the minutes of a May 26 meeting, when the process of studying Minden's health care needs was initiated. Bill Kulas, Minden's representative on the hospital board then read several excerpts from Ministry of Health documents, gave a recount of the history of the hospital and finally outlined the steps being taken to study the community's health care facilities and needs.

No new information was revealed at this first public meeting, but the growing fear that the local health care services may follow the path of so many other services and end up in Haliburton was eased. Kulas told the large gathering that the hospital board has no intention of closing the Minden Hospital. He also expressed his belief that it would be "political suicide" if the Ministry of Health withdrew its funding for the hospital.

At the request of Minden resident Ross Warburton a motion was introduced and passed to formally notify Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins of the action that is already underway. It is hoped that Eakins' support of the plans will help secure Ministry of Health funding for the study.

The needs study is a joint project involving both the hospital and Hyland Crest. The Ministry of Community and Social Services has already committed itself to funding half the cost of the study and it is hoped the Ministry of Health will cover the other half.

Kulas explained that terms of reference were sent out to 16 firms to submit bids. So far, the ad hoc committee that has been set up to initiate this study has received six replies.

The proposed study, that is expected to cost around $60,000, will examine the present health needs, make projections for future needs and propose recommendations about how these can best be met by the hospital and other agencies.

Warburton struck a popular nerve when he stood up and urged the ad hoc committee, municipal councillors and others in the room to continue to press for progress toward a new hospital for Minden. "If we don't stick up for our rights, it'll happen," he warned "It'll go to Haliburton."

He mentioned an early health care study for the county that showed a need for 18 new chronic care beds. He said half were to be in Minden and half in Haliburton. "Then, all of a sudden—bang—Haliburton gets all 18 beds."

Planning and fundraising for the addition to the Haliburton Hospital is complete, but the Ministry of Health has not yet released its funding commitment.

Eleventh-hour bid is too little too late

An eleventh-hour bid by Minden to match Dysart's financial pledge to the Highland Games was too little, too late. The Chamber of Commerce will be hosting this summer's first annual Games at Dysart's Glebe Park.

In an attempt to bring the June 24 Games to Minden's Fair Grounds, Deputy Reeve Bern Berry offered the Chamber a $4,000 forgivable loan in addition to the $1,000 the townships had already promised. It wasn't enough, though, to lure the Chamber away from Dysart's offer of a $5,000 grant and unlimited use of the facilities.

The Chamber finally made its decision last Tuesday morning after listening to sales pitches from Berry and Dysart Reeve Murray Feary. The two presentations painted surprisingly different pictures of the Glebe Park facility and offered contradicting information about the recommendations of George Forgan, president of the provincial pipes and drums association.

Berry urged the board members to look past Dysart's generous financial offer and bring the Games to the Fair Grounds, which he insists is the best location.

Feary, on the other hand, asked the board to disregard Minden's belated financial offerings. He also upped the ante, noting that Haliburton's service

Five resign from Committee

Five of the 11 members on the Highland Games Steering Committee resigned last Wednesday, stating there was a lack of honesty and manipulation involved in the decision-making process that resulted in Glebe Park being selected as the Games site.

The resignations and an accompanying letter were delivered to the rest of the committee at the end of a meeting at Hart Lodge last Wednesday evening.

The choice between Haliburton's Glebe Park and Minden's Fair Grounds for the Games site managed to rekindle the old Minden/Haliburton rivalry.

However, the resigning members say it was not the ultimate choice of Glebe Park that caused them to quit. They insist it was the manner in which the decision was made rather than the decision itself. In fact, none of the five is a resident of Minden.

(more on page 9)

organizations were willing to donate another $4,000 if the Games came to Glebe Park.

Berry apologised to the Chamber for "being late in getting off the mark." However, he said Minden had not been given much advance notice or information about the Games. He provided the board with background information about the facilities at the Fair Grounds and drew their attention to the weaknesses of Glebe Park.

The success of the Games hinges on more than finances, Minden's Deputy Reeve said. Success also depends on good facilities and strong support from the community.

"We have the site and we have the people, but we cannot compete with the finances of Dysart," Minden's Legion, Rotarians, Kinsmen and Lions are all ready to support the Games if they come to Minden, said Berry. He also drew the Chamber's attention to the community's solid track record, listing major events such as the White Water competitions, Ride For Sight, the Dog Sled Derby, the Heineken Yard, the Winter Carnival, the ice car races and the Black Bear Rally.

Berry highlighted the benefits of the Fair Grounds as a site for the Highland Games and picked holes in Dysart's Glebe Park. The Fair Grounds have the open space for the eventual coming of the heavy competitions. There is convenient parking on the grounds

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

Fans ecstatic as Atoms win over Bobcaygeon

by Corinne Howell

In the first round of the Tri-County Atoms games Minden was to play Bobcaygeon, with Bobcaygeon travelling to Minden on Thursday night.

Minden was in great form with David Raback scoring in the first few seconds from a great pass by Darryl Dettman.

Bobcaygeon was not long in following up with a goal to tie the score.

The game continued to be fast and exciting which led to a fantastic goal being delivered from the face off. David Raback playing centre passed the puck back to Scott Dedman who was able to score.

Now into the second period Minden kept up the pressure with Andrew Crego scoring on a pass set up by Todd Redgrave and Scott Bailey. Minden kept the score at 3-1 through to the third period, when Bobcaygeon was determined to be the ones to move the scoreboard.

With the lead narrowing, Minden had to pull out the stops which led to our tripping penalty. This meant the boys had to put the pressure on, showing once again that being short handed they can come through. Todd Redgrave scored from a pass by David Raback. The final score was Minden 4, Bobcaygeon 2.

Monday night Minden Atom teams were on the road to Bobcaygeon having won the first game in a best of three playoff set.

Fans were geared up for lots of action as this was Bobcaygeon's last chance at a comeback.

Minden was the first to score when the puck was set up for David Raback by Scott Bailey and Andrew Crego.

Bobcaygeon tried to put the pressure on but Minden held them off and in the last few seconds of the first period Todd Redgrave once again scored from a pass by Darryl Dettman.

The second period proved to be just as exciting. This time both teams were able to score, Minden's goal being scored by David Raback from a great pass by Todd Redgrave. This put the score at 3-1 for Minden.

As we moved into the third period, Minden seemed to gain extra zest and within the first few seconds of the period Todd Redgrave scored from a pass by Scott Bailey. Bobcaygeon showed they were still in the game by coming through to score their second goal.

By this time Minden was determined not to have to come back for a replay and stepped up the pressure with another goal by Todd Redgrave assisted by David Raback.

Minden fans were ecstatic by this time but the boys were not finished. They played right to the end and scored the sixth goal when Scott Dedman was on the end of a great set up by Marty Dettman and Darryl Dettman.

This ended the game at Minden 6 Bobcaygeon 2.

Night speed

The mounting number of accidents, injuries and deaths caused by careless handling of snowmobiles is a sad reflection of the disregard for proper safety precautions and legal speed limits by a minority of the snowmobiling public.

Rarely a week goes by that there is not a snowmobile accident or a missing snowmobiler in the police report. It's always disturbing to hear news of a death or serious injury. It is even more so when these tragedies can so easily be avoided.

For most, a snowmobile is a recreational vehicle that helps bring great fun to a long Highlands winter.

To others, though, a snowmobile is a powerful machine that should always be operated at full throttle. For these people there are no speed limits on the trails or rules to govern where or how they should operate their high-priced and high-powered toys.

These are the people who violate traffic laws in town. They are also the ones whose names appear in the police reports—and occasionally in the obituaries.

The majority of snowmobilers are aware of the traffic laws. But for the rest of you, the Minden OPP offers the following information:

—Snowmobiles are obliged to obey speed limits. Section 13 of the Motorized Vehicle Act lays out the various speed limits.

—On a highway where the posted speed limit is 50 kilometres per hour or less, the limit for snow vehicles is 20 km/h. The same limit is in effect for public parks or exhibition grounds.

—On highways where the limit is greater than 50 km/h the speed limit for snowmobiles is 50 km/h.

—Night driving is the most dangerous because the whole scene changes—normal reference points vanish, and hazards such as pressure cracks in the ice, stumps, docks and open water seem to disappear.

—At 50 km/h a snowmobile is covering a distance of 44 feet per second. At that speed at night a snowmobile is out-driving its head lights.

—Night driving and speed coupled with alcohol create an accident waiting to happen. Don't let it be your accident.

Ostracized because of his foul breath

This column is an abject apology to all fans who were with me - briefly - down at the local arena last Tuesday evening.

I understand why you abandoned me, left me to occupy the entire east wall of bleachers by myself while all of you huddled and crowded yourselves into the stands on the opposite side of the ice.

I'm not upset with your decision to shun me. I don't blame you a bit. No hard feelings.

It was the onions, wasn't it.

I knew it - knew it even when I was scarfing them down at dinner before the hockey game. But I couldn't stop myself.

Usually, I am a man of reasonable self-control. You could walk me through a boxcar full of cocaine and I wouldn't be tempted to sniff. I don't do heroin or hashish; absinthe or anabolic steroids. As for the number of times I've woken up in opium dens surrounded by geisha girls - I can count them on the fingers of one mitten.

I am not a frequenter of booze cans, gambling dens, or the drawing rooms of houses of ill repute, but by cracky, show me a chive or a shallot and my lower lip begins to tremble. Wave a leek in my face and I whimper like a baby. Show me a Rubenesque Spanish seductively shucking its onion skins in slow motion and EEE-YAW! - I turn into a ravening beast.

Yes, I'm an onion-luster. A harmless enough mania, as addictions go - aside from the friendship fallout. People just don't take kindly to the thought of tete-a-tete-ing with someone whose breath can set fire to eyelashes and melt mascara. That's why my fellow hockey fans so enthusiastically vacated the entire east side of the arena last week. Considering the provocation (I'd eaten a fistful of green onions plus an order of garlic toast) I thought they handled themselves with poise and discretion, although I found the catcalls of "Beat it, flamethrower!" and "Hit the highway, laserbreath!" a tad overwrought. But I have

Few younger residents show interest in hospital

Editor:

I am writing in regard to the Minden Hospital meeting that I attended on Thursday, February 16, 1989.

It was said at the meeting that Haliburton

County has the highest rate of senior citizens per capita in the province of Ontario. It makes me wonder if and when the study is completed we will see Minden hospital, as we now know it, disappear and an addition be added on to Hyland Crest to be used as an out-patient service to serve small emergencies, then refer you to Haliburton Hospital.

A few years ago there was a meeting here, when it was asked for chronic care beds because we felt the need for these beds. It was decided that Minden would get half the beds and Haliburton the other half. The outcome, as we all know, is that Haliburton is to get all 18 beds.

At Thursday night's meeting, I was surprised to see so many concerned citizens there, but in turn, was equally surprised to see very few younger people.

Mr. Kulas gave us a very good report on St. Joseph's hospital, how it owns Minden hospital and he also gave us a financial picture on how it cost $1 million to operate Minden hospital in 1988. The Board of Directors for St. Joseph's has decided to hire a consultant to study the present and future needs of the Minden area. They will also be looking at Hyland Crest.

Minden left holding the bag

Editor

Once again Minden has been left holding the bag - but not the bagpipes. We lost our Highland Games. Now where do we look for the answer to the question of why they were lost.

My own personal views would be in this order: The Chamber of Commerce, Anson, Hindon and Minden Council, the businesses, and our service organizations.

Minden Council does not seem to believe you have to spend money to make a dollar. They cannot seem to open their eyes to this fact. We elect people to represent us and to date this has not been done. As our Reeve put it, "If we cannot meet the people's concerns then we have a problem".

We do have a problem: to sit quietly by and let an annual event like the Highland Games slip away to Dysart. Quite frankly, we don't have an elected member with the leadership qualities who can solve this problem—our Reeve has tried. Try to remember this in our next election.

Our Chamber of Commerce seems to be catering to the needs of Dysart, not to Haliburton County as a whole. So, therefore, move the Chamber to Dysart but leave John Mateer, who has worked so hard for Minden.

In defence of the practice of onion eating to admit, if the tables were turned I'm not sure I'd want to get very chummy with a man who can sing cotton clothing and ignite paper articles by the simple act of exhalation.

Mind you, with a couple of Certs and a dollop of mouthwash I think I could mount a fairly spirited defence of the practice of onion eating. And I'd have plenty of evidence to back me up. Common sense, for starters. For centuries folk medicine practitioners around the world - from Confucius to my mother - have sworn by the efficacy of onions in warding off sniffles and sneezes. (Cynics don't dispute the cold-combating properties of onions; they say it's because no self-respecting virus could withstand the reek.)

And more good news - a study published in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute last month indicates that my favourite veggie can keep more than a bad case of sniffles at bay. The study, which was conducted by a joint team of U.S. and Chinese scientists concluded that regular consumption of onions (and/or its elder cousin, garlic) significantly reduces the risk of stomach cancer. Previous studies have shown that onion eating lowers the risk of heart disease, but the cancer link is something new.

How does the lowly onion accomplish all this? No one knows for sure, but scientists think it may be the presence of allyl sulphide. That's the chemical found in all allium vegetables - which is to say garlic, chives, leeks, shallots, scallions and garden variety onions. In laboratory experiments, allyl sulphide has been very effective in inhibiting the growth of cancer cells.

But I don't eat onions because I'm a health nut. To tell you the truth, I think I'd eat 'em if they were as hazardous to your health as smoking cigarettes or sitting through a Michael Wilson speech.

I eat onions for two reasons: first, they taste great. Secondly, they keep vampires away.

Okay ... three reasons.

They always get me the best seat at hockey games.

Issue must stay in spotlight

Editor:

The following is a letter to Bill Scott in response to your editorial of November 28. I think it's important to keep this issue in the forefront before the holiday season begins, continuing through the summer.

Pat Foley

Dear Mr. Scott,

On behalf of the membership of the St. Margaret's Island Cottagers' Corporation, I am writing to request your immediate attention to the depletion of Haliburton County lakes throughout the course of each summer. The unreasonable and arbitrary demands of the Trent-Severn Waterway have created very real problems for both permanent and seasonal residents of Haliburton.

Due to drought conditions, the past two summers have been especially difficult for those of us who are part of the reservoir system. By October 16, 1988, Lake St. Nora had dropped a total of 72 inches within four and a half months. I'm sure that you'll agree this is a ridiculous situation for island residents who have to rely on water transportation for access to their properties. Docks and water intakes are left high and dry at an earlier date each year, resulting in damaged boat props and burned-out pumps. Our only water access to the sole marina serving two lakes is through The Narrows between Lake St. Nora and Lake Kushog. By October, this access route is reduced to a boulder-littered, un-navigable, dangerous trickle. It's mind-boggling that our Federal department is permitted to exercise such a degree of autocratic control over other regions.

We have been informed that other Haliburton lakes drop as little as 12" during the season and are puzzled and angry that a small lake such as Lake St. Nora is targeted for a 6-foot drop. This is unfair, inequitable, expensive and dangerous.

Our island residents are weary of scrambling, belly-first, onto high and dry docks and are tired of replacing damaged motor props and water intakes. With the continued increase in Haliburton County population, this problem will not go away. The need for increasing the reservoir capacity of the Trent-Severn Waterway is critical and must become a priority item to satisfy the thousands of permanent and seasonal residents who are being seriously inconvenienced by this continuing delinquency of the Federal government in addressing this concern.

Our Corporation will be diligently watching for relief from this intolerable situation throughout Haliburton County and request your personal involvement in the solution to this problem.

Pat Foley,
Secretary
St. Margaret's Island
Cottagers' Corporation.

- the identified areas of concern (i.e., deer wintering years, recreational areas and trails, fish habitat areas, etc.); and
- the alternative ways that operations may be carried out in these areas and the preferred or most acceptable way of operating.

Members of the Frost Centre planning team and the Director will be present to explain developments in the timber management planning process to date and to answer your questions.

Speak out on school prayer

Editor:

For several weeks now, I have read with interest the letters debating the issue of the Lord's Prayer in our schools. I believe that the majority of county residents are disturbed and even angered by this denial of our spiritual and cultural heritage. One voice that has not been heard is that of the children themselves.

I have heard the same story from teachers, parents and students alike - that the children are in most cases unanimous in their disappointment, frustration, and even confusion at not being allowed to say the Lord's Prayer.

The 1980's have been described as the decade of 'apathy'. When the government passes legislation that we believe is wrong we feel helpless and ask: "But what can I do?" My fear is that this issue will pass and we will not have made ourselves heard. If we sit back and do nothing we will have let the children down and I believe we will have let God down.

What then can we do? First of all we can pray. Prayer is not just an afterthought. It is the tool that God has given to those who trust in Him, by which we can move mountains.

Secondly, there is a small group of concerned parents who will be addressing the Board on this issue, on February 28th. This Board meeting is as usual open to the general public as observers. Anyone who wishes to come and show their support is welcome.

Finally, we can write letters. This is probably our most effective tool for change. I urge you to take the time to write to John Eakins and any other MPP's you choose. Also, send a copy to Chris Ward, the Minister of Education. Tell them in a constructive way that you are unhappy with the way this law has been imposed on us, without any consultation at the local level, or any debate in parliament. Tell them as briefly as you can, your reasons for disagreeing with this law. Ask them why our children have been denied the right to pray together in school while the Ontario Legislature retains the use of the Lord's Prayer.

In January 1990, a one-man commission will be reporting on religious education in our schools. Unless we take a stand now, the result of this commission may very well be that our children will no longer enjoy the religious education that takes place in our county schools. The time to make ourselves heard is now. Let's now wait until there is nothing left to stand for.

Helen Brown,
Boshkung Lake.

Highland Games

Financially it is a bidding war—the old rivalry between Minden and Haliburton.

Where now are the mouths of Minden and even help, then, let us not join them. Dysart got the Games because they showed they are financially secure. Therefore, our service organizations should keep their money in Minden, for Minden.

Betty Dionne

Minden needs full hospital service

(from page 5)

It is time the community of Minden, all ages, get together at these meetings and let the consulting firm know what we want for Minden now and in the future.

Minden Council is looking for Industrial Park land. Could you see a small light industry moving to Minden in the future and council having to tell them we have the land and the services you need but a few years back we had to close our hospital. You may think I am jumping to conclusions, but just think about it. If we want people to come and live in Minden and increase our tax base we have to have a competent full fledged hospital, not an outpost. We can all sit back and let Minden become a bedroom for Haliburton or we can band together by writing to Mr. Bill Kulas, Mr.

John Eakins, Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden and all other surrounding townships including northern ones of Peterborough and Victoria County to let them know our views.

Thank you for taking the time to listen to what I've had to say.

Chamber weighs merits of sites with potential of adding more. And the arena, curling club and old curling club are all right on the grounds in case of poor weather.

"Don't have your people say to you, 'hey, you picked the wrong facilities,'" Berry said referring to the Glebe Park option. There is bound to be rain one year and people are not likely to take a shuttle bus to the Dysart Arena, he said. "I'm sorry but I don't think people are going to jump on a bus."

The thickly wooded and hilly nature of Glebe Park will also be a disadvantage, Berry said. "It makes it kind of hard to throw that caber or whatever you're going to do. (In Minden) you're not throwing it through a tree or up a hill."

If predictions of yet another infestation of tent caterpillars for this summer hold true, visitors will get a sour first impression of the Games if held at Glebe Park, Berry warned. It will not be pleasant "when you're sitting under those trees in Haliburton and those caterpillars are dropping on your head."

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearry took exception to Berry's portrayal of Glebe Park. "There's nothing wrong with trees and water in Haliburton Highlands," he said, defending his township's 87-acre site that fronts on Head Lake. He argued that this is typical of the landscape throughout the county and is the image that the Chamber should be trying to get across to visitors.

Although he defended the park's trees, he later told the board that he and his council are willing to cut many down in order to make an opening in the woods for the Games. Fearry disputed earlier statements that Forgan favours the Minden site. He claimed that Forgan told him after touring the park that it should be held there.

After touring the two sites, Forgan was to have prepared a written report for the chamber, stating his preferences. The report was not available for the board by last Tuesday so the decision was made without it.

Fearry defended Dysart Township's financial offerings. He said the initial letter from the chamber to his council noted that $10,000 in funding would have to be raised. Council, in turn, offered free use of Glebe Park and the arena plus a $5,000 seed grant. "That's not buying votes," he asserted.

The distance of the arena to the park is no problem, Fearry insisted. In Fergus, where one of the largest in the series of Highland Games is held, the arena is just as far away, from the site, he said. To his knowledge, the Games in Fergus have never been cancelled because of rain, he told the board.

"We're anxious to have it here and we're looking ahead to future years," he said. "You don't grow trees overnight and you don't cut them down for one year's Games."

Fearry's presentation was followed by brief presentations from four members of the site selection committee. Doug Potter and Eleanor Patton opened with a favourable recommendations for Minden.

Committee Chairman Joan Irish, while not stating a preference, ridiculed Berry's suggestion that a caterpillar infestation will dissuade people from coming to Glebe Park. County Council representative Anne Barker spoke in favour of Glebe park, saying she fell in love with the site because of its trees.

The board's decision was made in private, after which a brief, written statement was released to the press.

Committee members resign

Contacted last Friday afternoon, Committee Chairman Joan Irish said she was not aware that the resignations were final. "As far as I'm concerned they are good people," she said. "I'm sorry to hear they feel that way."

Although Marjorie Jennings said the letter was hand delivered to each member of the committee at Wednesday's meeting, Irish told The Times Friday that she did not receive copy. "I'm very disturbed at the way this is being handled," said Irish. "They're doing this to try and sabotage the Games."

Eleanor Patton, who was the committee secretary until Wednesday, said she was not happy with the way the site selection process was taken out of the hands of the committee and turned over to the Chamber board. She said the committee did the leg work, they looked at all the pros and cons of the sites. And when it became clear that they favoured the Fair Grounds, the chamber board decided they would make the choice, she said.

Irish contends that the Chamber board had to make the decision. "The Chamber was involved from the very beginning. You have to have a governing body. You can't just out of the blue do whatever you want."

Other matters that went into the members' decision to resign include concerns about the shortage of notice given them about the visit from the representative of the Ontario Pipe Bands association; discrepancies in what that representative's final recommendation was; and the appearance of preferential treatment to Dysart Council over other municipalities.

"I feel very unhappy about this situation," Patton said. However, she said she still strongly believes in working for the community. She says she is still in support of the Highland Games and hopes they will be successful.

Young at heart participate in Seniors' Winter Games

by Norma Hodgson

Monday February 6 saw 100 'young at heart' residents of the Haliburton Highlands gather at Deer Lodge for the first day of the third annual Haliburton Senior Winter Games. The second day will be held Monday March 6 starting at 9:30 a.m. and again the venue will be Deer Lodge.

Participants were greeted with muffins and coffee and then the fun began - cards, shuffleboard, bingo and deer races. The Haliburton County Home Support Services Line Dancers gave a demonstration and invited the audience to participate.

At noon a delicious roast beef dinner was served and then the serious competition began. Winners of the tournaments were:

Bridge - Shirley Hodgson, Hadden Gillespie, Mike Collins, Ev Robertson, Lenore Gillespie and Nick Lehoczy.

Euchre - Lil Haight, Colleen Burns and Vi Cooke. Gord Hore, Carl Burns and Lil Platt.

Table Shuffleboard - Ed Fajar, Norma Hodgson, Velma Springer and Harry Hodgson.

The first prize winners were presented medals compliments of Deer Lodge and the runners up received Fun Follies certificates. Door prize winners were Eleanor Pye and Virna Wagg.

Our genial hosts, the Teljeur family, ensured a day of fun from morning until the medals were presented in the late afternoon. If you missed this day, don't miss the second day of the winter games. All older adults, 55 years and over are welcome. It's a great way to meet and greet your peers of the Highlands.

Patient lauds conditions at Extendicare Haliburton

Editor:

I am a patient at Extendicare and wish to bring to the attention of the public the conditions which I find at this institution.

1. The professional medical staff is very understanding and co-operative (the doctors and nurses). The professionals have to be very patient because they are compelled to listen to the whining and problems of the elderly and other residents.

2. The head nurses are compassionate. The nursing assistants do their best. They have to be firm at times, but with the firmness comes compassion and a feeling of kinship. The support staff takes care of our immediate needs on an hourly basis. They are kind individuals who are doing a job which is less than pleasant.

3. The organizers: Barbara Fryer is the coordinator of recreational activities. While she is helped by volunteer workers, the responsibility for preparing and carrying through programs rests entirely on her shoulders. She works beyond the call of duty and goes the extra mile at all times. As a result, our lives have been greatly enriched and a sometimes lonely existence becomes more bearable.

Because Barbara does not brag or blow her own horn, I want to do it for her. As far as we are concerned, Barbara Fryer is the unsung heroine of Extendicare Haliburton.

All of the staff is cheerful and has a sense of humour fitting the occasion.

There have been complaints by the residents but it should be pointed out that they are often exaggerated. Only when we are moved elsewhere do we realize how fortunate we are to be in such a caring home.

Environment, economy must be considered

by Marion Strebig
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

Last week I learned how to survive real winter. On behalf of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, I was in Thunder Bay auditing the hearings for panel 8 of the Class Environmental Assessment for Timber Management on Crown Land in Ontario. Considering that the Crown Land represents an area roughly the size of California, and stretches from the edge of the Canadian shield to the tree-line, it is astonishing how little public interest it has managed to generate. Since the Ministry of the Environment was not satisfied with the technical detail of the Environmental Assessment document prepared by the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR), the MNR was required to submit it to a hearing before the Environmental Assessment (EA) board which can accept or reject it or accept it with conditions (changes). When this document is finally approved, it will be the first time the timber management activities of the Ministry of Natural Resources will come under the scrutiny of the Environmental Assessment process.

The document which is now before the EA board basically supports the status quo. Interested parties who wish to alter this approach are allowed to cross-examine MNR witnesses and finally to present their own case. The FON as a member of Forests for Tomorrow, a coalition of environmental groups, is represented at the hearings. Basically the coalition believes there are insufficient safeguards in the present document for non-timber values of forests: habitat for wildlife, and non-consumptive recreational uses. They also believe the ideal of sustainable forestry, if it is to work, must consider both the economy and the environment.

This area covered by the

Minden OPP Notes

During the week of Feb 6 to 12, officer of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 64 general occurrences and 20 accidents with eight people injured.

THEFTS

- A blue 1989 Yamaha Exciter 570 cc snowmobile with no licence was taken from the Devils Lake area.
- A set of cross-country skis, black with white and grey letters, and Solomon bindings was taken from the Maple Lake area.
- A 1984 maroon coloured Polaris snowmobile was taken from the Raven Lake area. Ontario licence on the machine was 524889.
- A 1987 Skidoo 377 Safari snowmachine was taken from the Beaconbrook Hotel. Licence plate number on the yellow machine is 580831.

SNOWMOBILE CRASH

A 29-year-old Markham man was rushed by ambulance to Minden Hospital after his snowmobile crashed into some trees along the shoreline of Mountain Lake. Walter Ficker is charged with careless driving and driving with no insurance as a result of the accident that happened at 3:30 a.m. on February 11.

TOO CLOSE

William Robb, 26, of Claremont is charged with following too close after an accident on February 11 at about 4 p.m. Robb was operating a tractor unit and was following a car driven by Rosemary Shivji of Haliburton on Highway 121 near Allsaw. Robb was not able to react fast enough when Shivji braked to make a left turn. There were no injuries.

ACCIDENT

Floyd Henry, 34, of Haliburton is charged with impaired driving causing injury and driving with a blood/alcohol level over the legal limit after he was involved in an accident with a police cruiser on February 12.

Just after midnight on Mountain Street in Haliburton, Henry failed to stop at a stop sign and drove into the side of a police cruiser operated by OPP Constable Mike Legge. Legge was taken to Haliburton Hospital while Constable Buchanan, a passenger in the cruiser, was uninjured. Mrs. Henry, a passenger in Henry's vehicle, also received minor injuries.

A new blue recycling bin was placed at the Scotch Line Landfill Site in Minden last Tuesday and a group of Archie Stouffer Elementary School Students soon set to work filling it up with pop cans they had been saving in their classroom. Minden Council recently worked out an agreement with Don Coates of Muskoka Containerized Services to have the bin placed here. Coates, along with Minden Reeve Ray Moore, and Councillors Lewis Stevens, Bob Sisson and Mike Maher were at the landfill site that day to see the arrival of the bin. They said they were pleased to see the enthusiasm of the students from Mrs. Davis' class and they hope it will be matched with equal enthusiasm from the rest of the community. Now that the bin is in place the students will be starting a public awareness campaign to encourage everyone to take advantage of this opportunity to recycle their tin cans, old newspapers and old jars and bottles.

Forests are essential habitat

document represents not only prime timber land, but also some of the most rugged and beautiful land in Ontario. As well it is essential habitat for most mammals native to Ontario, and breeding habitat for about two-thirds of the bird species listed in The Atlas of Breeding Birds of Ontario. Yet the MNR has managed to make the forest dull and the hearing proceedings as uninformative and interminable as possible. The hearings which started in May 1988, have been divided by the MNR into 17 panels. As of February 1989 we are not yet finished panel 8. And this is only the MNR presenting its case. After that the forest industry will present its case, and then finally the intervenors who want timber management to change, like the Forests For Tomorrow, Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, the Northern Ontario Tourist Operators and the Indian bands affected, will get their say.

No one would expect that the MNR, entrusted with the daunting responsibility for this immense area, would not make mistakes, or need over the years to change. It is disheartening, therefore, to hear the official MNR line that everything is working fine in the forests. All that the system needs is a little tinkering and a few references to the environment and non-timber values, and everything will be alright.

This remoteness from the real world is typical of the upper echelons of most large bureaucracies, not of those actually working in the field. The sense of remoteness from reality is conveyed by the language of the hearings where there is talk of models, values, effectiveness monitoring, but no picture of a real forest of black spruce and lichens, rivers and bogs, warblers and pine martens, moose and caribou.

As well as this depressing technical and general vocabulary which carefully avoids specifics, the MNR appears to be trying to destroy its opposition by presenting them before each panel with mountains of paper which they have to absorb and on which they have to formulate and submit written questions to the MNR before they have to formulate and submit written questions to the MNR before that panel begins. Given the limited financial resources of the intervenors, simply covering this material is a formidable task.

The opening day of the panel I attended was given over to the MNR witnesses' oral repetition of material already covered in the 1000 page written submission received by all parties. The chairman of the EA Board has been moved to remind the Ministry that everyone can read. The second day picked up slightly. The MNR witnesses were being examined on the effectiveness of 3 sets of MNR guidelines set up to protect values other than timber in timber management plan: guidelines for moose, fish and tourist values. Almost immediately we got into bizarre territory, in which the MNR did not want to be examined on the guidelines themselves, but only on the monitoring system to test their effectiveness, claiming that their expert witness on guidelines would not be present until a later panel.

This is part of the frustration faced by non-government parties trying to cross-examine. The hearings have been arbitrarily divided, or rather fragmented, into 17 panels. A favourite ploy of the MNR throughout the hearings has been to deflect cross-examination by saying that the matter in question will be covered in detail in a later panel.

Also depressing is the fact that, in spite of lip service to general environmental concerns in timber management, the three provincial guidelines which do exist for values other than timber are all more or less related to the MNR's image as gamekeeper for the province. Moose is the only animal for whose protection guidelines under timber management exist. The fish considered are sport fish, and the tourist operators mentioned run hunting and fishing camps.

Such an attitude is outdated both because it concentrates on management for a single species rather than for a healthy ecosystem, and because it fails to take into account the changes in attitude of the general public. A substantial and growing number of Ontario residents and visitors are interested in experiencing remote country in a non-consumptive activity like canoeing or hiking. The popularity of such trips is borne out by the success of groups offering such tours, including FON's Canadian Nature Tours and Membership Trips program.

The discussion of the ultimate fate of our forests should excite our interest and our passion, because as residents of Ontario we can affect the decision about how they are treated. However, if it rests with the MNR at the EA hearings, the fate of our own forests will never be as graphic and immediate to us as the faraway rainforests of South America.

No clear leaders yet in Men's playoffs

After two weeks of playoff action in the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League all six teams are still right in the running.

The Times and the Rockcliffe have a very narrow points lead in this round-robin series, each with a win and a tie. Halls Insurance, Vasey Real Estate and Hartwick Construction each have one win and one loss to their credits. Home Hardware is the only team without a win.

TIMES 6, ROCKCLIFFE 6

The opening week of playoff action saw the Rockcliffe and The Times lock horns in a battle to a 6-6 tie.

The Rockcliffe's Barry Boice was the top goal scorer in this contest, beating Times' goaltender Kevin Smith four times. Scott Hamilton and Daryl Ward each added one to the Rockcliffe tally.

Craig Crow set the pace for The Times with three goals. Ben Manuge, John Ballantyne and Dave Pettes added one each to even the score.

HALLS 7, HOME 2

The Halls Insurance team had an easy go in their opening game against Home Hardware. If they hadn't eased up late in the third frame, they may have blanked their opponents.

With three goals from Ed Gibbons, two from Brian Shaw and one each from Bart Hilhorst and Dave Hartwick, Halls compiled a 7-0 lead.

Doug Pearson's shutout was finally cancelled in the third period when Yvonne Gravel hit the mesh. Minutes later Lawrence Lougheed added a second goal for Home, but that was all they were allowed.

HARTWICK 12, VASEY 6

Hartwick Construction's usual defensive style of play was set aside in their playoff opener against an unexpectedly strong Vasey squad. Hartwick scored 12 goals in this game, doubling their opponents' achievements.

Sid MacKiegin was responsible for five of Hartwick's goals while Doug Ray and Andy Campbell added two each. Bern Berry, Wade Stamp and Ken Casey each added one to the win.

Ken Barry and Ivan Ingram scored two each for Vasey while Dave Bezner and Tom Eager scored one each.

ROCKCLIFFE 6, HALLS 4

The Rockcliffe's Scott Hamilton was back in top form last Monday scoring three times en route to a narrow 6-4 win over Halls.

Hamilton scored three in the Rockcliffe's second playoff game. Tome Haley, Norman Barry and

Vasey a playoff surprise

Barry Boice each scored one.

Dave Hartwick scored twice for Halls while Colin Wilson and Brian Shaw added one each.

TIMES 7, HARTWICK 5

For the second week in a row, The Times managed to beat the odds, this time with a 7-5 win against Hartwick. The win keeps them tied for the lead with the Rockcliffe for playoff points.

Ben Manuge and Craig Crowe each scored twice for the winners while John Ballantyne, Paul Perreault and Irwin Asbel added one each.

Doug Ray and Jim Keetch were the top scorers for Hartwick with two goals each. The fifth Hartwick goal came from Andy Campbell.

VASEY 9, HOME 6

The biggest surprise so far in playoff action is the strong showings from Vasey Real Estate—the team that finished at the bottom of the standings at the end of the regular season. Last Monday they managed to upset Home Hardware by a 9-6 margin.

Barry Shaw, Dennis McKee and Tom Eager each scored two goals for the winning team in this effort. Harold Cowen, Ivan Ingram and Ken Barry added one each to the count.

Lawrence Lougheed earned a hat-trick for Home, while Barry Ward scored two and Dave Rogers added one.

The third round of playoff action is slated for tonight at the Minden Arena. At 7 p.m. Vasey will be trying to upset the Rockcliffe. at 8:30 p.m. Home and Hartwick will battle it out. And at 10 p.m. Halls will meet The Times. After five weeks of round-robin play, the two top teams will play off in a best-of-three finals.

There are many methods of coping in a stress-filled environment

Everyone living in the Haliburton Highlands lives a distress-free, care-free, problem-free life. Or at least that's the picture presented to the friends who live in the city. And to be sure, this area is easier to live in than the city. There aren't the same problems with crowding, with pollution, or with the traffic. But to say that life up here is stress-free may be exaggerating a bit.

There are a lot of stresses common to people living in the modern world, whether in cities, towns, or in the country. These stresses have to do with things like poor working conditions, financial troubles, loneliness, poor health, and family problems. There are times when a number of these factors pile up at once, and coping with the strain isn't easy, it's not the sort of thing that they teach you in school.

Recent years have seen the development of a number of new methods for dealing with the problems of modern life, all of which can be put under the general heading of 'Stress Management'. This heading covers a lot of territory; there are stress managers who tell people to enjoy stress, and some who counsel people to get rid of it. Others refuse to use the word 'stress' at all in their job title, because medical research has shown that just using the word 'stress' increases stress levels.

But despite a few contradictory signals, all of the research and discovery in the field of stress management has led to significant progress in showing people realistic, practical ways of dealing with stress. Here are a number of different ways of coping with stress, most of which have proven successful. Be sure to keep in mind that people have different experiences and responses, so strategies will vary from one person to the next.

- Ignore it. This response is almost never recommended by Stress Management counsellors, but it's a common enough choice. Ignoring stress as it builds up may lead to physical problems like increased weight from overeating, ulcers, or high blood pressure, and social problems like alcoholism or marital breakdown.

- Do sane, ordinary things to cope with stress. Go out for walks, or listen to quiet music. Remind yourself of the things that you enjoy - jigsaw puzzles? square dancing? and if you've stopped doing them due to the pressures in your life, see if you can resume them.

- Reorder your life. This could mean doing things like introducing a regular exercise schedule, or maintaining a healthier diet. You may be able to alter working conditions that bother you rather than just accepting them. Many activities originally intended for relaxation actually aren't that restful, like watching television or going to the bar. See if there are alternative activities that increase your liveliness and appreciation of life.

- Take classes from someone trained in stress management. There are a number of courses available in the Toronto area, such as those offered by Dr. Hanson or by Eli Bay of The Relaxation Response Ltd. in Toronto. Eli has also prepared a series for TV Ontario.

One such course will be given in Minden every Monday night for five weeks starting February 20. The course instructor, Brian McLeod trained with Eli Bay in Toronto. The course will include a number of physical relaxation exercises, positive-thinking exercises, and guided visualizations for deep relaxation. There will also be time for discussion of the theories behind stress management and positive thinking.

by Winnifred Barnum

Last night we sure knew winter is still with us.

Thursday the Maple Lake Anglican Church Women brought and served our tea party. They had a delicious lunch and beautiful Valentine cake which everyone enjoyed.

Doris started reading us a new book. That night there was no bingo for us.

Verna Jarvis had Edna and Cindy McElwain to visit her.

Friday we had bible study with Mrs. Coleman and a video movie with George Burns acting in it.

We had two birthdays this week, both on February 11. One was Ruby Lewis who had some of her family on Friday and some on Sunday to celebrate it with her. The second was Marjorie Shuyler who had lunch out with her son and daughter in law. Happy birthday to both.

On February 14, a seminar was held in the auditorium. The speaker was Dr. Dorothy Ley of Beaverton. Her message was really enlightening and enjoyed by all.

Early fire warning can save lives

Install and maintain one or more smoke alarms in your home to provide you with early warning of fire conditions.

Minden Women's Institute

The Minden Women's Institute met in the Common Room on February 14 with president Mrs. C. Lacey in charge. Mrs. C. Wilson acted as secretary as Mrs. Lyman Cox was absent. The roll call of 'Your impressions of Mary Stewart Collect' was answered by 13 members and one guest was made welcome. Collections for the Pennies for Friendship and Card Fund were taken. Mrs. W. Moore had reported sending 16 cards since last meeting.

Our magazine Home and Country was given to all. There was discussion regarding a bus trip this spring with Annie Kernohan in charge.

We joined in God Save The Queen and the W.I. Grace. Then we watched two video tapes from the Museum Committee shown by Jean Lacey, one being with Mrs. (Major) Lewis and second the Mill stones donated by the Fred Rogers family.

All then enjoyed a snack and a cup of tea and a social time. Next meeting is at the same location at 2 p.m. March 15. All ladies are invited to come out and learn new facts with us.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Three-year certificate is awarded to Extendicare

Haliburton's Extendicare nursing home has earned a three-year accredited status - the highest category of accreditation granted to an active treatment or long-term care facility by the Canadian Council on Health Facilities Accreditation (CCHFA).

"The Council is a voluntary organization made up of members of the Canadian medical, hospital long-term care and nurses' associations," says Anne Ollikainen, administrator of Extendicare. "The purpose of the CCHFA accreditation program is to promote a high quality of care and to establish standards for hospitals and long-term care facilities."

The three-year accreditation award is reserved for those centres which have been found to be meeting or surpassing all standards and to be operating in what is termed a "consistent, progressive manner."

The Haliburton nursing home was surveyed by a representative of the CCHFA who examined the organizational structure, environmental services and resident care program. "In the accreditation process special emphasis is placed on resident care, activity programs and safety," says

Ollikainen. "The CCHFA representative looked carefully at everything that affects the delivery of care to our residents and at all things that help contribute to the quality of each resident's lifestyle."

Ollikainen said the nursing home's ability to earn three-year status have proven that the staff have a genuine regard for residents and they continually provide a home-like atmosphere.

Ollikainen, who has been administrator at the home since January, 1987, says "The staff here are terrific. They deserve the credit for this award from the council. This is the third consecutive three-year award received since the facility was initially accredited in 1982."

Video portrays folly of smoking

Haliburton County Public Library has acquired a new video title perfect for anyone concerned with smoking and its effect upon our society as a whole and women in particular. Called The Feminine Mistake it cannot help but have an impact on those who view it.

Available in VHS format, the tape takes a realistic look at what happens to women who smoke. And more, it provides a number of very compelling reasons to stop smoking...now!

It examines the changes that take place in a woman's body each time she lights up. It shows what happens when pregnant women smoke and how smoke-induced illness can result in disability and even death. At the same time, the film also shows a successful anti-smoking program in progress at one high school.

The tape is available for loan through any branch of the Haliburton County Public Library and lasts for 24 minutes.

IN MEMORIAM

BAGSHAW: Thomas. In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away February 26, 1950.

When evening shades are falling
And we sit in quiet alone
To our hearts there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile
But they little know the heartache
Our smiles hide all the while
A helping hand to all he knew
So kind, so generous, and true.
On earth he nobly did his best
Grant him Jesus, heavenly rest.

Lovingly remembered by wife Vera, son Tommy, daughter-in-law Marilyn and grandchildren Tommy, Lisa and Kimberly.

CHILTON: Lauretta. In loving memory of a dear sister, who passed away two years ago today, February 26, 1987.

Softly the leaves of memory fall
Gently I gather, treasure them all.
Some may forget, now that you've gone.
I will remember no matter how long.

Lovingly remembered by sister Bernice.

IN MEMORIAM

CHILTON: In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lauretta, who passed away February 26, 1987.

God saw you getting tired
And a cure was not to be
So He closed His arms around you
And whispered, "Come to me"
You didn't deserve what you went through.
So He gave you the rest
God's garden must be beautiful
He only takes the best.

Always remembered by husband Jack, son John, Phyllis, Tracy and Cheryl.

WILLOW BEACH COTTAGES

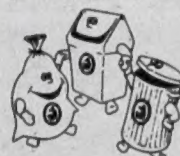

Without their donations and the people who generously bid and bought the articles, we would not have been able to raise close to $900 for this worthy cause.

Also to Mr. Norm Mills, who donates his time and skills to run the auction in an orderly and professional manner, a very special thank you.
